New Junior High School Building Is Proposed

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the school committee Monday night that if he had his druthers, he's build a new school on Shawsheen Road rather than renovate East Jr. High per recent capital budgeting discussions.

The new idea was at least temporarily nurtured by the committee when they voted Seifert the go-ahead to file generally for state reimbursements for renovations, additions or new building. The deadline for applications is Dec. 1.

A representative from the State Department of Education will subsequently arrive to study long-range school plans, and a local decision on a specific option will have to be made by May 1 in order for Andover to go on the State Legislature's priority list for funding.

Seifert told the committee he and East Jr. High Principal Richard McGrail had been meeting on the matter since a $3.25 million renovation program for East was placed in the town's capital budget program earlier this month. Under that plan, they would go to town meeting next spring for planning funds for renovation.

Seifert said the cost of upgrading East could actually run much higher — perhaps up to $6 or $7 million — because he and McGrail now feel an addition would be necessary on top of extensive renovations to make the building suitable.

''What we will have,'' he said, ''is an expensive, renovated building that's 'early 1900.' ''

Why not go for a new building? he asked, when a 50 percent reimbursement from the state is possible.

He said a new building in the Andover High-West Jr. High complex could also incorporate the school department's second capital goal — a new auditorium.

''The inescapable problem,'' he went on, ''is that East is really not a satisfactory school,'' though he suggested that ic could be converted for some other town use, such as a joint town-school computer facility.

''If we decide to change our minds, that's all right,'' Seifert concluded before the committee had it's chance to vote. ''But it's important that we get something going toward the state application.''

McGrail added that any work done on East Jr. High ''is not going to be a minor

Shawsheen Water Is Improving

A flushing program, utilizing new methods, may have provided some relief to the water problems plaguing a section of Shawsheen.

Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade reported this week that new methods of flushing the mains in the village were put into effect during all day operations on Thursday and Friday of last week, to see if the dirty water conditions could be cleared.

As of the early part of this week and over the weekend, the problem seemed to be cleared up, he said, and the department is hopeful the clear water will continue to flow.

McQuade and Acting Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen are expected to give a further progress report on the matter at the meeting of the selectmen Monday night.

Replacing Doors On Trial Basis

Stall doors — which have long since fallen to vandals in the boys' bathrooms at Andover High — will soon be replaced on a "Good behavior" basis.

Student Advisory Council member Louise Mirisola said Monday night the administration has agreed to install one door per bathroom for a six-month trial period. If those doors stay on, another will be installed in each bathroom and so on, every six months until they're all replaced.

She said the problem was first brought to the SAC's attention by Junior Class President Frankie Valentin. SAC in turn took the request to Principal Philip Wormwood.

The doors were repeatedly ripped off by vandals several years ago, and the cost of replacing them became so high they were left off.

In fact, Wormwood said, the partitions themselves were torn down so that two years ago they reconstructed partitions out of cement blocks. But, he said, doors weren't put on them.

Louise reported that SAC representatives will be explaining the situation to the boys gym classes in hopes of convincing them to leave the doors on.

Committeeman Elaine Viehmann, acting chairman Monday night in David Ahouse's absence, asked if the girls' bathroom situation was as bad as it used to be, when many girls wouldn't use those facilities.

Louise said that as a sophomore and junior she wouldn't go into them because they were so dirty. But, she said, the smoking has cut down a lot, and things are a lot better.

Two monitors now check the girls' rooms as well.

Bus Service On Agenda For Selectmen

Continuance of local bus service will be among the items considered by the selectmen when they meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of Memorial Hall library.

The Trombly Motor Coach service, which provides both the Greater Lawrence or local service and the express commuter service to Boston, has indicated it will have to cease the local operation unless some subsity is provided.

Joining the Merrimack Valley Transit Authority, or an outright subsidizing of the local runs by the town, are the options available to the selectmen. Lawrence and Methuen have indicated they will join the regional transit authority. While the selectmen can express the town's willingness to belong, it is anticipated that such action would be put over to the annual town meeting in March.

Other items include establishing new fees for building and electrical permits, tabled from the last meeting for further study, and a vote on how the town wishes to pay its contribution toward unemployment insurance, and Acting Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen will have some appointments to receive confirmation from the board.

Parking Ban To Begin Dec. 1

The all-night parking ban will go into effect on Dec. 1.

From that date through April 1, cars must not be parked on the traveled way between the hours of 1 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Andover police will begin tagging cars parked on the street overnight effective with the Dec. 1 date.

Bike Auction Is Dec. 3

The annual auction of bicycles at the Andover police station will be held Saturday, Dec. 3, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The bikes are those which have been recovered or turned in to police during the past year.

A partial description of bikes to be auctioned is available at the police station.

Bomb Threat Policy To Be Topic

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said Monday night he'll present some recommendations on bomb scare procedures to the school committee at their next meeting.

Seifert said that when a bomb threat exists, a building is immediately evacuated, and the police and fire departments called to conduct a search. When they are through, he said, the decision on whether or not to return to the building is left to the principal.

"And he calls me," Seifert said.

Seifert said that to be perfectly safe the children could be sent home. However, he said, there would be no way of knowing if a bomb — if it existed — was time-delayed.

He said he didn't appreciate "playing god with 500 children's lives," and that "it is imperative" that some kind of policy be set, since there are half a dozen or so such threats every year.

Committeeman Joseph Finn said he wanted an opinion from Town Counsel on what "a reasonable man" would do before he makes a decision.

Colleague Elaine Viehmann noted that bomb scares would increase tremendously if the children were sent on home.

On the other hand, Seifert said that some vocational schools have set of something of a deterrent. They simply require pupils to spend the same number of minutes after school — that same day — that they spent out of school during the scare.

DEC Report Delayed A Month

The report by the citizens Declining Enrollment Comittee, due out this month for action by the school committee in December, has been somewhat delayed.

The committee waited to get input from last week's meeting with parents on the future of East Jr. High. The next meeting is now set for Dec. 7.

Children's Christmas Party Set

All elementary school children are invited to attend the first annual Christmas Party sponsored by the Andover Recreation Community Schools Department on Friday, Dec. 16 at the Recreation Park Lodge between 6-8:30 p.m.

Each child is asked to bring a wrapped $1 present that is appropriate for a boy or girl of any age between 5-12.

Santa Claus will be in attendance to distribute presents and there will be special holiday refreshments on hand to treat all party goers. Professional entertainment will be provided by Johnny Sisson who will stage a magic and puppet show as part of the festivities. Christmas movies will also be shown.

If parents are interested in registering their children for this program they can sign up their child and pay the registration fee at the Recreation Community Schools Office on Bartlet Street.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that 13.2 million persons will enter the labor force between 1972 and 1985 upon receiving their degrees - 11.2 million with bachelor's, 1.2 million master's, approximately 20,000 doctor's and 750,000 with first professional degrees.

Metrics Workshop Planned

A lecture-demonstration workshop entitled "Taking the Fear Out of Metrics" will be offered at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute on Dec. 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. in Alumni Field House.

This informative workshop will cover provisions of the Metric Conversion Act passed in 1975, and deal with the what, why and how-to of metrics. It will be a "hands-on" program which will involve class members in using metric units. Tips on how to metrically recycle weighing and measuring items which you already own will be shared.

The workshop is free and open to the public regardless of race, color or national origin. To register or obtain further information call Mrs. Betty Creeden at the Institute.

Oratorio

The Cantata Singers will begin the Holiday Season with their performance of J. S. Bach's The Christmas Oratorio on Tuesday, Dec. 6, and Wednesday, Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. in Sanders Theatre in Cambridge.

Music Director John Ferris will lead the chorus and ensemble in Parts I through IV of the Oratorio. These parts, which tell the story of the birth of Christ, the annunciation to the shepards and their journey to Bethlehem, and the naming of the child, are in actuality 4 separate cantatas originally performed in 4 different church services.

Christmas Programs Offered At Academy

A Phillips Academy student art exhibition, a contemporary drama on the George Washington mainstage, and a student dance recital will be offered to the public by Phillips Academy students from Friday to Sunday, Dec. 2-4.

The traditional Christmas Service of Lessons and Carols also will take place Sunday, Dec. 4, and dramatic scenes from the Nativity will be enacted on Sunday and Monday evenings in the Underwood Room. The Andover community is invited to these last presentations of the fall term, before examinations begin.

The Addison Gallery will open its Fall Term Exhibition of student work on Friday, Dec. 2, with a reception from 7-9 p.m. The satire "Vatzlav," a contemporary non-realistic drama by Slawomir Mrozek, will be presented on both Friday and Saturday nights in George Washington Hall at 8 p.m.

On Sunday evening, Phillips Academy students of ballet and modern dance will perform in a dance recital at 8 p.m. On Sunday afternoon the Academy's traditional Christmas Service of Lessons and Carols will take place in Cochran Chapel at 5 p.m. Later that evening, "A Night at the Inn," dramatic scenes from the Nativity by a number of authors, will be presented by faculty and students in the Underwood Room at 6:45 p.m. This performance will be over before the dance recital begins at 8 p.m. The Nativity scenes will be repeated again on Monday at 6:45 p.m. There will be a nominal admission charge for "Vatzlav" only; tickets may be purchased in advance from School Receptionist Meredith Thiras, or at the door.

Red Cross Reviews Year's Performance

Mrs. C. Henry Anderson opened her house for an "Appreciation Coffee" for over 50 Red Cross volunteers from the town of Andover last week.

The objective of the gathering was to discuss the activity conducted during the year which has passed since the amalgamation of the Andover and Greater Lawrence Chapters of the Red Cross.

The group was addressed by Mrs. Joseph J. Tavern the Chapter's coordinator of the blood program for Andover, Gil Rappaport, chairman of volunteers and John H. Carroll Jr., the chapter's executive director.

The efforts of the Andover bloodmobile teams during the year produced an all time high of almost 3900 pints of blood for distribution to hospitals in response to the needs of the chapter's residents.

"Our bloodmobile teams are quite versatile in their operation and unique in their make up" said Mrs. Tavern. "Included in our group of almost 100 volunteers are six husband/wife teams: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Delaney, Mr. and Mrs. David Petrie, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. David Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Baker Clotworthy. And if you think the ladies dominate the bloodmobile scene you might be surprised to note that extraordinary support is received from Arthur Smith, Albert Cole, Wolf Berthold and V. Douglas Walshe".

The group was pleased to hear that the "Service to Military Families" functions have been expanded to include communications assistance to Raytheon employees stationed in foreign countries such as Korea and Iran when family emergencies arise. First Aid, Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation and Water Safety training for Andover residents has increased by 12% during the year. Although more than a hundred Andover residents and 1700 persons from throughout the Chapter's jurisdiction have been instructed in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, the chapter has a staggering backlog of people who want to learn this life saving procedure.

During the winter months, the Chapter plans a heavy teaching schedule in First Aid and Water Safety and will conduct volunteer, diaaster, and nursing seminars. Arrangements can be made to participate in any of the Red Cross training programs by calling the chapter in Lawrence.

When The Lights Go On Thank Greg Gardner

Getting In Shape

Greg Gardner gets in a little preseason practice for his traditional Christmas time role of greeting youngsters in the downtown area courtesy of the Andover Center Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce. Greg this year also unravelled the Christmas lights to be placed on the trees downtown.

By Linda S. Corbett

One of these days, Gregory Gardner will turn in his Andover High football uniform for one usually associated with a much older man.

Gregory will be ho-ho-hoing his way through downtown stores and sidewalks as sort of the Town Santa, compliments of the Andover Center Merchants.

In preparation for this new season, he has already accomplished a rather amazing feat, as anyone who has ever tried to unravel and test a string of Christmas tree lights knows.

Gregory — with quite a little help from the family — recently straightened and tested more than 70 strings of mini-white twinkle lights that last year adorned the sidewalk trees along Main Street from Elm Square to Olde Andover Village.

He's quick to tell you it was quite a job, and says he volunteered to do the work for the Chamber of Commerce at no charge so he could talk about it.

He says the strings must have been literally torn from the trees in post-Christmas haste, to make such a colossal mess.

In addition to the fact that the strings — far longer than those used on just any indoor tree — were "more unbelievably knotted," he says they turned out to be the kind that when one bulb goes out, the whole string does.

Of course pre-season preparations will make Gregory's task a little easier later on, when part of his job is to check the trees, replacing bulbs that do burn out. The light-overseeing responsibility was added last year after the Chamber received several complaints about unlighted trees.

This will be his third year, however, as their Santa.

Even Gregory's football frame — 5-feet-11 and 175 pounds — isn't enough for the Santa suit provided by the Chamber, so he adds two pillows which provide insulation as well as padding on blustery December nights.

This career as the jolly old man actually began a good four years earlier, when his mother persuaded him to be Santa for her Christmas party. He has also dressed up in full bearded regalia for his aunt, Chris Maynard, a teacher at South School, and he makes regular rounds of friends' homes.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace, 103 High St., Gregory is a senior at Andover High and hopes to major in special education. He's particularly interested in schools in New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

After all, he says, he doesn't want to come in all the way from the North Pole to perform his Christmas duties.

Activity Morning Planned

The Andover Recreation Community Schools Department is sponsoring an "Activity Morning" for it's Special Needs Children. The program will include segments of Dance and Movement, Arts and Crafts, a movie and refreshments which the participants will make and have during the show.

Please plan to drop the children off at 9 a.m. at the Doherty School and pick her/him up at 12 noon. A fee will be charged at the door. Children should be dressed in loose fitting clothing to provide easy movement during the active segments of the program.

To insure that adequate supervision and refreshments are provided call the office to state that your child will attend.

The department would like to remind parents of special needs bowling on Fridays from 3:30-4:30 p.m. at the Andover Lanes on Park Street. The cost is 60¢ for the string and shoes. This program is supervised by students from Merrimack College. These students are anxious to see more chlidren participate and have been kind enough to suggest that should there be an occasional transportation problem keeping a child from participating on a particular day, they would be willing to take the child home. No registration required — just show up. No bowling this Friday.

Seifert Challenges Students To 'Give Back' To Community

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert Monday night challenged the town's youth to give something back to the town for the "13-year-ride" the community has given them.

"And I don't mean dollars," said Seifert, adding that he felt part of a diploma requirement would be that youths "pay their dues" back to the town.

Seifert said there are many more "takers" than "givers" in society, and that people are more concerned with their rights than their responsibilities.

"The education process itself is a very selfish thing," he went on. "It's what are you going to give the students — what are they going to get from college. The spirit of sharing and giving is lacking. I feel as a superintendent, that as I give out the diploma, it should signify something."

The youths graduate and go off to college "and where are they five, 10, 15 years later?" he asked. "They received their diplomas from Andover, but where was the pay back?"

"The students here are givers," he nodded toward the members of the Student Advisory Council present. I'm not asking the givers to give more, but that the takers start giving."

"In 13 years," he said, "They can do something to leave the community better than they found it. That's not asking too much."

He mentioned the new elderly program, as one example of a "pay back."

SAC Member Anne Moriarty had earlier explained the one-semester history program during which students visit elderly residents and then report on history from their standpoint. Hartley Peakes is teaching the course, with English Department Head Bill Becker assisting with the interviews.

The elderly benefit from the friendship, Anne said, while the students benefit in school as well.

The program is so successful, she said, that some of the students are now doing independent studies after their one-term course is over.

Also in the outreach department, Louise Mirisola reported on attempts to make new students in town feel welcome by inviting them to lunch, and by sending them special letters to admit them to a school dance since they didn't yet have their photo I.D.'s. She said none showed up.

Seifert suggested a more personal approach.

He said a living, breathing human being might make a bigger impression than the SAC superstructure.

He said student service could extend beyond the schools into town government and the like. For instance, he said, youths could work on possible parking solutions for the town, or the identifying of a problem might be a contribution in itself.

"From my standpoint," he concluded, "I'm going to keep pushing this."

Holiday Buffet Planned

West Parish Church, West Andover, has been selected as the site for the third annual International Holiday Buffet to be held Sunday, Dec. 4, at 5:30 p.m.

The International Institute sponsored event will feature home-cooked nationality dishes from 12 countries and Christmas music in several languages.

Seating is limited and by advance reservation only. Contact International Institute for further information.

Do you have a piece of wooden furniture that seems dull and lifeless? Is it covered with minor scratches and scuff marks? Don't give up on that piece of furniture. If it was a high quality item to begin with it probably had a deep penetrating oil finish, as opposed to a lacquer or methane finish that just sits on top of the wood. If it is an oil finish, many of those scratches can be easily removed with a general purpose satin oil or even lemon oil.

Take a clean cloth and put a liberal amount of oil on the wood. Then take some 0000 steel wool or some 600 grit wet and dry sandpaper and gently sand the wood with the oil as a lubricant. Do not work too long or hard in one place and for large open areas such as table tops you will probably have to do the entire surface. It is not a hard job and your wood will look like new.

From week to week we hope that you will make it a habit to read along with us and take advantage of our many areas of expertise. In succeeding issues of the Townsman we hope to be able to broaden your knowledge in the areas of furniture and interior design, woodworking and custom made furniture, and the care and maintenance of fine hardwood furniture.

LIMITED EDITIONS is one of the largest custom builders of fine furniture in the area. We have a staff of well trained professionals that will work with you to meet your furniture and interior design needs.

School Aides Still Needed

Several teaching and instructional aides are still needed by the system, Business Manager Edward Maguire told the school committee Monday night, including five at Sanborn, one at South, one at West Elementary and one at West Jr. High.

He said the aid appointments are so late in coming because of a combination of factors, such as the sheer number of aides, the large number of traditional pupils this year which required a shift in aides to maintain staffing patterns set by the school committee, and a variety of transfers, particularly within West and Sanborn Schools.

He said the problem should not exist next year, and that in fact, aide needs should be pretty well defined by June.

Reappointed Monday night as aides for the current school year were Susan Dietzel, special needs instructional aide (I.A.) at Bancroft and Nancy Combes, health clinic teaching aide (T.A.) at Sanborn. New aides include Luiz Gonzalez, special needs I.A. at Bancroft; Ann Murphy, I.A. at Doherty; Dale Pierson, I.A. at Bancroft; Rosalie Ren, media TA at the high school;Deanna Atchison, I.A. at Sanborn; Corinne Lafond, T.A. at Shawsheen; Carlene Miller, I.A. at Shawsheen; Nancy Weinsein, I.A. at Sanborn; Martha Craig, T.A. at West Elementary; Maureen Gerstberger, Media T.A. at West; Carol Mackay of North Andover, T.A. at West; Gail Monayer of Methuen, T.A. at West; Joan Patrakis, T.A. at West; Gail Schulz, I.A. at West and Gene Wood, I.A. at West.

In other personnel action the committee accepted the resignations of Paul Fitzgerald, Jr., a special needs teacher under a Title VI program at West Jr. High since September and Helen Owtzen, s Sanborn teacher who has been on maternity leave since September, 1976.

Robert King, a science teacher at Andover High, was named dramatics coach for the year at an addiitional stipend of $998. He has had six year's experience in that extra curricular position.

Book Tells How To Buy Tree

A new publication called "How To Buy A Christmas Tree," is available free through the Essex County Cooperative Extension Service office.

The 12-page booklet discusses the specific characteristics of Balsam fir, Douglas fir, Eastern red cedar, Scotch pine, and white pine. It also gives hints for selecting the perfect tree, no matter what the species, and offers suggestions on keeping the tree green and safe after it's in place.

Christmas trees may be graded under the voluntary standards recommended by the U. S. Department of Agbriculture (which published the booklet), and you may find that comparing cost and grade will help you find the best tree for your needs at the lowest price. U. S. Premium is described as being not less than medium density, normal taper, and having all four sides free from any type of damage. U. S. No. 1 (Choice) is not less than medium density, normal taper, with three damage-free faces. U. S. No. 2 (Standard) is light or better density; candlestick, normal, or flaring taper; and at least two adjacent damage-free faces.

Copies of How To Buy A Christmas Tree are available at no cost from the Essex Extension Service. Drop in personally, or send a stamped, self-addressed business envelope with your request for a copy of this publication. A limited number of copies is also available through the Bulletin Distribution Center, Cottage A, Thatcher Way, University of Massachusetts, Amherst 01003.

Where it all started. The birthplace of the famous Bard of Avon, a Mecca for the tourist trade. It is generally the first stop in Stratford, though pictures of the Tudor type house have been seen many times during one's life span. It is carefully preserved and judging by the traffic observed, earns its keep.

Jubilee Year England

A Night With The Bard

By Raymond B. DeRuisseau

Stratford Upon Avon. The name is recognized the world over and is woven into the fabric of education, everyday speech and thought through the writings of its celebrated son, William.

Stratford is a pretty little town along the river and it doesn't take one long to discover where Shakespeare was born. The line of tourist busses parked along Henley street in front of a Tudor type dwelling announces that this is the place. The guide shows you the room where the poet first drew breath and the rest is typical. Antiquated contruction, period furniture and a souvenir shop doing a thriving business at street level.

Then one must see the thatched roof cottage of Anne Hathaway who married Shakespeare when he was but eighteen. She was eight years his senior. Next the tour stops at the cottage of Mary Arden, the bard's mother. All of this is frosting on the cake, moving from one antiquity to the next.

At lunchtime we repaired to the attractive Falcon, once frequented by the poet. Here the seasoned surroundings imbue an unusual air of importance. Out in the sunlit courtyard, set with umbrella-covered tables, we scanned the gabled roof lines and jointly smiled at the anachronistic television antennas among the chimney pots.

Left to our own devises awaiting curtain time, our free-wheeling view of the surroundings did much for our absorbtion of the flavor of these famed environs. The Avon itself is enjoyable to view. Still-flowing with rowboats, a couple of two-man shells and the famous slow-moving barges occupied by either sightseers or families exploring the inland waterways on holiday. No motorboats and no din to foul the placid scene. The powered barges just purr along. Indeed, it would be an ideal setting for Jerome K. Jerome's "Three Men in a Boat."

Beside the river we visited the famous man's tomb in Holy Trinity Church. This put to rights the belief by some who were certain that he was entombed in Westminster Abbey along with other English greats.

The sun was still high as we aproached the Royal Shakespeare Theater, famed temple to Thespis and Erato. Ushered in, we were given a welcome by the manager who, among other things, told us that 300 people are employed operating the theater in addition to the actors. A repertory company works year around on plays for audiences in Stratford, London and the provinces.

It was opening night for the Royal Shakespeare Company's presentation of "King Henry VI, Part Three." The theater, as one would expect, is on a scale commensurate with the distinctive elements of its name, Royal and Shakespeare. It is grand and one is advised that it is prudent to make reservations six months in advance. Our group hadn't done this and the Central Office was fortunate (for us) in obtaining seats at all. The seating left much to be desired in one aspect but the location had its compensations. We were in the first stall. Stalls are narrow boxes overhanging a side of the stage and over a bank of spotlights. "Up To Heaven" the British called the seating as we related our experience afterward.

The Royal Theater seats 1,520 persons and there was not an empty seat to be seen that night.

Shakespeare's plays are not light fare and "Henry VI" is considered one of his lesser works. Yet we found the experience captivating. Several in our party had attended performances here before and allowed that they had endured a first act then sat out the rest of the show enjoying drinks on the terrace overlooking the Avon. We expected that we would probably follow suit.

It didn't turn out that way. When the second and final act opened we were in our seats eager to follow events on the stage immediately below us. Our cramped, uncomfortable seats did give us a position looking down upon the action and the speeches, in perfect diction, came up to us clearly. It made the heat from the lights endurable. We did note, however, that a surprising number of orchestra seats were vacant during the second act.

The performance itself was masterful in stage craft. No curtain, of course, for the deep wide stage. The setting was stark with only two draped nets dripping to mid-stage from above. In the far background the ramparts of a castle. The metered lines need no painted embellishment.

Stage business was held to a minimum. When a throne was required to indicate the struggle taking place for that regal seat, the players carried it on with them and then walked off with it as they exited.

For openers, four of the Yorkist crowd are seen playing soccer with the servered head of the Duke of Somerset. That somber episode set the tone for the evening.

The doings are a bit of the Wars of the

Cmdr. William C. Materna

Appointed To National JWV Post

Commander William C. Materna, USN (Ret.), 18 Abbot Bridge Drive, Andover, has been appointed national service officer for the Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A., with an office in the John F. Kennedy Building, Boston.

Materna retired from the Navy in June, 1976, after 30 years of active duty. He had spent his final tour as commanding officer of the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Center in Lawrence.

A native of Akron, Ohio, he joined the Navy in May, 1946, and took his flight training at Pensacola, Fla. He was commissioned an ensign in 1950 and served with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranian. Released to inactive duty in 1954, he earned his bachelor of science degree at the University of Rhode Island.

Materna was recalled to active duty during the Berlin Crisis in 1961, and served with Carrier Air Anti-Sub Marine Squadron 935. He subsequently had tours at Naval Air Station, Grosse Isle, Mich.; and the Naval Air Training Unit, Norfolk, Va., and was on the staff of the Commander of Naval Air Reserve Forces in Glenview, Ill., where he received the Navy Commendation Medal.

As a naval aviator, he has amassed more than 100 carrier landings and 4000 flight hours.

Materna is married to the former Gabrielle Feldman Rosengard. They have eight children and are members of Temple Emanuel in Lawrence. Materna is a member of the Services to Military Families Committee, Lawrence Chapter of American Red Cross, and Post 40, Jewish War Veterans, Lawrence.

England

Roses. The Lancasters with their red roses stuck in their hats and the Yorkists with white roses in theirs, both at bloody odds. Slayings and heads on pikes punctuate the action as docile, inept King Henry is shoved aside by Edward, the Earl of March and later King Edward IV. Henry winds up in the Tower. Several years pass and Henry makes an aborted attempt to regain power. He is again sent to the Tower where he is finally daggered to death by Richard, the Duke of Gloucester. The latter episode, gory with red dye coursing down the king's white robe is ingeniously presented. A cantilevered portion of the fore stage opens, sandwich-like, to reveal this scene.

By current standards, the play has a lot going for it. It has a blonde.

The Lady Grey, who refuses to play games with the self-proclaimed Kind Edward without benefit of a wedding ring, causes all manner of disruption. The Earl of Warwick, known in history as the kingmaker, is in France trying to arrange a marriage for Edward in the French royal line. He is left holding the bag when Edward ups and marries the blonde. Warwick switches allegiance back to Henry and becomes a marked man. He is eventually run through by the Yorkists and his dying speech lasts about five minutes.

At this point in the action, with the Dramatis Personae being liquidated at an alarming rate, it appeared that the stage would be swept clean of players. Here, a wag in our party, anxious to relieve the tenor of events, suggested that perhaps the script writers for American TV violence should turn to the classics.

Finally with Edward IV on the throne, his blonde queen beside him and his brother, later to become Richard III, in shaky command of their destinies, the lights went out. We had seen Shakespeare presented as it should be.

The IPSM crowd gathered and we made our way through the crowds to our motorcoach headed for a very late dinner. One member of our party delayed departure because he had to return to the theater for his camera. Cameras must be checked prior to admission. "No cameras or tape recorders, please!"

Tomorrow was the Fourth of July and as always a special day in the American scheme of things in England or anywhere else. We spent it, along with the Duchess of Gloucester, at the International Agricultural Fair.

EASY TO INSTALL

CUT CAR COSTS

WITH SAV-CAR AND LAWRENCE SAVINGS BANK

LSB wants to help stop car theft and give you a break on insurance costs at the same time, so they're offering the SAV-CAR device at considerable savings to protect your automobile.

SAV-CAR's armored steel lock requires at least 15 minutes to sever with a special cutting tool. The operating key is one in 80,000, and there is no master. The armored steel cable protecting the electrical wires can't be pulled loose and closes off completely on both sides if it's cut. The armored steel cap can only be removed by a trained mechanic with a special drill. That takes 20 minutes.

With SAV-CAR, it isn't worth the car thief's time and skill to steal your automobile.

LSB IS MAKING THE SAV-CAR AVAILABLE AT ONLY $32.50 plus tax to anyone.

However, if you negotiate an Auto Loan at LSB, it's yours for just $18.00 (plus tax based on $32.50 retail). Minimum loan is $2000 to qualify.

Installation is only $12.50 at local authorized installation centers.

SAV-CAR has been approved by the State Insurance Commission, so installation makes you eligible for a 15% discount on comprehensive insurance costs under current regulations.

See LSB today. Save on your car loan, your insurance costs and help stop auto theft. LSB is working for you to make owning and operating a car more economical.

Fire Alarm

Unfortunately, nobody has come up with a Fire Insurance that will prevent fires. Properly maintained and engineered buildings can help prevent them though. When we handle your Fire Insurance we tell you more than just the price. Often we can point out relatively minor improvements that can reduce your premium, and your likelihood of a fire.

But whatever Fire Insurance you buy from us, you'll know it's the best available for the price. We'll stake our reputation on that.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Smith

Smith - Rushforth

At home in Effingham, N. H., are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Crane Smith, who were married October 8 in the First Congregational Church, Wakefield, N. H.

The bride is the former Cynthia J. Rushforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Rushforth, 62 Prospect Road, Andover. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Ossipee, N. H., formerly of Andover.

The Rev. Bourrie officiated at the 12:30 ceremony, and William Rushforth provided trumpet music. A reception followed at Five Chimneys Golf Resort, Province Lake, N. H.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight gown of Qiana with lace insert of needlepoint and a long train. She wore live flowers in her hair, attached to a finger-tip veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, spide mums, ivy and baby's breath.

Mrs. David Doss of Galveston, Tex., attended as matron of honor, while Marilyn Dill of North Andover was maid of honor and Thekla Smith of Ossipee, bridesmaid. They wore Qiana gowns of autumn rose that featured bloused sleeves. They also wore live flowers in their hair and carried cascade bouquets of spider mums and roses.

Mrs. Rushforth chose a long, blue Qianagown with long sleeves for her daughter's wedding, while the groom's mother wore a long gown of light orchid Qiana. They both wore orchid corsages.

Samuel Smith of Ossipee served as best man, and ushers included Thomas Murray of Lawrence and Ned Walker of Washington, D. C. T

The new Mrs. Smith attended Andover schools and is a senior at Plymouth State College, Plymouth, N. H. Her husband attended Andover High, Phillips Academy and the University of New Hampshire. He is associated with the Wolfboro (N.H.) Country Club.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Cape Cod.

Document Conservation Center of North Andover, who will speak on the work of the center in the preservation and restoration of important library and archival materials.

Institute Gets Grants

The Essex Institute of Salem has received three new special project grants. A supplementary award of $6,300 was made by the Massachusetts Historical Commission for the reroofing of Plummer Hall, the Institute's museum and administrative facility. To date the Commission has pledged $14,600 to this project. Work was completed last fall at a cost of over $30,000.

The Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities has granted the Institute $3,850 toward the print cataloguing project, scheduled for completion at the end of this year. The funds will be used to match National Endowment for the Arts money, already in hand. In July the Alfred E. Chase Charity Foundation of Boston provided the Institute with $2,000 to be used in conjunction with N.E.A. funds to publish an illustrated booklet.

The discovery and use of coal and oil enabled large populations to live in cities. Each person who moves from rural to a city area, with no change in his consumption level, uses more energy for transportation, housing, fuel and food which is processed and transported, Massachusetts Audubon says.

Gallery Talk At Salem

A world recognized zoologist, authority on Japanese life and art, early environmentalist, fire buff, recipient of numerous honorary degrees, holder of the 'Order of the Imperial Treasure' from the Japanese government, and director of the Peabody Museum of Salem. This remark able man was Edward Sylvester Morse who will be the subject of a gallery talk by Israella Abrams at the Peabody Museum of Salem on Nov. 29 from 9:30 to 11. The Museum's new exhibit Japan Day by Day commemorates the 100th anniversary of Morse's first trip to Japan.

The Chinese work toward total recycling. All refuse and organic waste go back to the land or into fish ponds for food production, Massachusetts Audubon tells us. Lighted insect traps are made so that dead insects fall into water strained from cooked rice

Beginning Annual Drive

Members of the Greater Lawrence Chapter, New England Home for Little Wanderers prepare the little red houses to be placed around town for the annual Christmas Drive conducted by the group. From left, Mrs. Francis Sweeney, Mrs. Robert Norbedo and Mrs. Hartley Cranton. Seated, Mrs. Louis Bourbeau, chairman.

Antique Toy Exhibit Featured At Museum

A stroll through Christmas is the feeling evoked by an exhibition of antique toys opening November 25 at Boston's Museum of Science.

The focus of the exhibit is a varied collection, from wooden trains to lead soldiers, lent by the Heritage Plantation, Sandwich. The Plantation originally prepared the collection for display in Spain as a Bicentennial event.

Beginning with printed wooden pieces dating from the 1870's, the exhibit moves through cast iron horses, wagons, and firefighting equipment of the turn of the century, to tin figures of such popular appeal as Maggie & Jiggs of comic-strip fame, and electric trains of the 1920's.

Of particular historical interest are handpainted miniature soldiers and color guards of the more than 30 military regiments existing in North America during the 17th and 18th centuries. Less than three inches high the soldiers with their differing flags and uniforms provide an unusual view of colonial life.

Although by 1870 America had given up most of its Puritan customs, the practice of strictly observing Sunday had not died out. Two of the toys from the 19th century indicate the kind of recreation allowed at that time. One is a church formed of cubes, each printed with one of the ten commandments; the other is a Noah's Ark and its animals.

In addition to many trains, wagons, and stagecoaches, the exhibit contains dollhouse furniture of The Gilded Age and curious mechanical clockwork toys with solid brass gears. An inadvertently contemporary note is struck by a pile driver which has the name, "Panama Canal," stencilled on it.

Brought to the Museum especially for the holidays, the antique toys in Stearns Hall will remain through mid-February. There is no extra charge beyhond Museum admission.

Christmas Program For Sorority

The Alpha Phi Chi Sorority of South Church will meet Thursday, Dec. 1 at 8 pl.m.

Christmas music will be presented by a group of children, the North Reading Treble Chorus. Mrs. Richard Stultz is the conductor and her husband, who is the accompanist, is organist at Old North Church, Marblehead. During intermission, Mrs. Reta Buchan will give a Christmas message.

The environment is not a random array of separate pieces; it is an interrelated community in which an impact on one member affects every other member. A flourishing wild animal population indicates the environment is healthy for people too,

Thanksgiving

A season of joy begins this week with the observance of Thanksgiving.

From now through Christmas, there is an air of joy and friendliness which abounds like at no other time of the year.

Thanksgiving, a traditionally, New England and American holiday is reflection of the spirit of our pilgrim founders who paused to give thanks for a bountiful harvest.

Times, of course, change, but the spirit of that first Thanksgiving remains, as we pause at this time of year to join with families and friends in giving thanks for our blessings.

It is the time of year when the true meaning of love and charity is prevalent — when the spirit of brotherhood prevails.

Troubles and problems don't really disappear, but they are diminished somewhat by the reflection on the true meaning of the season.

In a world still striving for everlasting peace, we, at this season of the year, can be heartened by the efforts of leaders in the mideast, bravely moving in direction which could bring about some understanding.

Here, at home, families will be gathering with the aid of modern conveniences ungeared of at the first Thanksgiving.

Such things as modern transportation to span the miles, cooking conveniences to prepare the festive meal, electronic devices to provide home entertainment, all contribute to making Thanksgiving a joyous holiday for all.

Basically Thanksgiving remains the same in observance as it was centuries ago, a time to be thankful and express that spirit of gratitude — reflecting the feeling of love and charity in all.

As at that first Thanksgiving, we again are grateful for His blessings, for the opportunity to rejoice at this most happy time of year.

A happy Thanksgiving to all.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — November, 1902

A. A. Heroux's Riding Academy in Frye Village was completely destroyed by fire late Saturday night. The buildings were totally engulfed when firemen arrived at the scene, Main and Union streets, shortly after 9 p.m. A kitten rescued on the property is now residing at the Central station.

S. Hale Baker has been named acting principal of Punchard High School in place of F. O. Baldwin who has been granted a leave of absence at half-pay for six months. Mr. Naker has been teaching in Andover since leaving principal posts in Malder and Provincetown.

The game between the Andover football team and Lynn High school, will be played Thanksgiving morning at 10:30 at the P.A. campus, and promises to be an exciting contest. Admission will be 15 cents.

The barber shops located on Park street as well as in the Musgrove building will be closed all day Thanksgiving Day. They will remain open until 11:15 p.m. on Wednesday.

The coat of arms of the Abbot family which formerly belonged to Samuel Abbot, uncle of Madame Abbot whose endowment the academy gave it its name, has come into the ownership of the school through the legacy of William Abbot of Central street.

50 Years Ago — November, 1927

"Some Grounds for National Thanksgiving," was the sermon topic for Rev. Newman A. Matthews at the Union Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at West Parish church.

Walter Bacheller's all-around play, including two touchdown runs gave Punchard a thrilling 18-0 win over Methuen to end the regular season last Saturday. The Punchards then played an extra game and bowed to Maynard.

An application has been made by the Eastern Mass. Street Railway to run a transit service through West Andover. The service would provide for patrons in the West Andover-Tewksbury area en route from Lawrence to Lowell and return.

Several Andover residents made the trip to Cambridge last Saturday to witness the annual Harvard-Yale game, taking advantage of special excursion trains stopping en route from New Hampshire points to and from Boston.

Judge Frederick P. Cabot, presiding justice of the Boston Juvenile Court, will address members of the League of Women Voters on "Young People and the Court."

25 Years Ago — November, 1952

Figures compiled in the building inspector's office indicate that 633 new homes have been built in Andover in the six postwar years — 1946 to 1951.

The lightshave been strung and work on the Christmas tree placed in front of town hall is proceeding nicely as merchants and the town plans for a parade and turning on of the holiday lights Saturday afternoon.

Patrolman Edward P. Pettoruto has been granted a three month leave of absence by the selectmen to respond to an appointment as an examiner for the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Phillips Academy opened its new gym this past week, combining the new, needed facilities with the old Borden gymnasium. Named to honor the 144 alumni killed in World War II, the new structure cost !1,194,000.

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, retired headmaster at Phillips Academy will be the principal speaker at an Essex County conference on education to be held in Haverhill spopnsored by superintendents and teachers of the county area.

10 Years Ago — November, 1967

No quorum for a special town meeting called to act on funds for road construction for the new Gillette plant and $100,000 for renovations for the junior high school. Town will try to convene the session next Monday.

The town has received permission from the state to delay a decision on joining the Merrimack River pollution abatement district until the annual town meeting in the spring.

Beginning next July the school department will assume responsibility for all its libraries. Memorial Hall library staff has been in charge of school libraries up until now:

Gourdeau Construction Co., of Beverly is the low bidder on the new 40-unit senior citizen housing project with a proposal of $582,500.

The school department has submitted to Town Manager Richard J. Bowen its capital budget program for the next five years calling for $13,250,000 in improvements. Included in the program are renovations for the east junior high, an addition for west elementary school and an addition for the high school summer job," and he called the school "an inexcusably unacceptable institution for learning in the 1970's."

Since he came here in 1970, he said, he's been told "we can't fix the plumbing, we can't put lighting over the typewriters, we can't take the special education out of the basement, we can't take the gym equipment off the stage — because we're going to renovate."

"Things haven't," McGrail said, "gotten any better."

"This would have to be a renovation," he said, "the likes of which this town hasn't seen in renovations."

In an earlier historical wrap-up, Seifert had noted that East was never intended to be a junior high school in the first place. It was built as a high school and a subsequent addition was put on so it could house different aged children — junior high and high school. There was no logic to the structure of where programs would go, he said.

"People will say we've had it for 50 years," he said. "The question is, what we should have."

Seifert said he and McGrail envisioned a school with a central media center, surrounded by physical education, academic, auditorium cafeteria and core facility programs. The core would include industrial arts, music, art and home economics.

He presented a sketch of East showing the lack of any system to the current approach, and told how classroom space is inadequate by approved state specifications.

Over the past 10 years, he said, the state department has required 900 to 950 square feet for a regular classroom, while East has only three with more than 800 square feet and many far smaller.

The library contains only 938 square feet, he said — about the perfect size for one classroom, and with a capacity of 36 students. A rule of thumb, he said, is that a library today should be able to seat 10 percent of the student body at one time. East has had 700 to 800 pupils for several years now.

In looking over program needs, he said that larger space is needed in almost all areas. Additional needs include a math lab and computer terminal space (a math lab now exists but it's part of a classroom regular classroom); two equipped science labs, area for a language lab, additional art room (two teachers now share one room), an additional industrial arts room, a room for choral music and a room for instrumental music, separation of music and physical education (the gym is on stage), one health room, more phys ed space plus storage, a teaching station for career education, new rooms for all special ed classes, office space for department heads, storage for custodians, and so on.

In the area of "brick and mortar" problems, Seifert said the old building needs to be rewired, it needs new exterior doors and windows, the roof needs to be replaced, along with carpeting, plumbing and toilet facilities need to be modernized and the heating system needs to be improved.

School Committeeman Casimir Kolaski said he realized the committee has taken a position that "new construction isn't appropriate." However, he said he felt they

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Citizens Abroad Get Little State Dept. Aid

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON - We have reported in the past that the State Department has done a poor job of protecting Americans abroad. Hundreds of U.S. citizens are now serving time in pig-sty prisons from Bangkok to Bogota.

They have appealed to the U.S. embassies for help. But all too often, our diplomats are too busy attending cocktail parties to worry about Americans in trouble.

We have obtained some State Department documents, intended for official eyes only, about a case in Jamaica. The documents tell about the misadventures of Michael Davidoff, a travel agency owner, from Potomac, Md.

Last month, he flew to Jamaica to scout the vacation spots. He paid a fee with a U.S. $100 bill. The Jamaicans accused him of passing counterfeit money because the bill did not contain the words "In God We Trust." The Jamaicans were wrong: the motto did not appear on $100 bills until 1969.

But before Davidoff knew what had happened, he found himself in a filthy, insect-infested country jail. He was permitted to call the U.S. embassy, where he spoke with a consular officer named Doris Wilmeth.

She told Davidoff that the Jamaican police were trained by the United States. So she accepted their word that the bill was counterfeit. But she promised to call him back. Davidoff never received the return call.

Davidoff's wife made repeated appeals for help to the American embassy – all in vain. For three days, Davidoff was stuck in the unsanitary prison. He was offered swill, which he refused to eat.

Finally, his wife retained a Jamaican lawyer who advised Davidoff that the fastest way out of jail was to plead guilty. He paid a $500 fine and left Jamaica.

The State Department has since filed a note of protest with the Jamaican government. The affair, said the note, was a "miscarriage of justice." Davidoff's name should be cleared, the note added, and his fine and expenses returned.

The Jamaicans replied that a miscarriage of justice had not occurred because Davidoff had pleaded guilty. A spokesman for the Jamaican embassy assured us, however, that the case is under review. If they establish that Davidoff's currency was not counterfeit, said the spokesman, they would "expunge the conviction," return his fine and reimburse his expenses.

Meanwhile, the State Department's internal investigation indicates that the embassy in Jamaica is trying to lay all the blame on the consular officer. Actually, it was the higher embassy officials who refused to be bothered.

According to an official State Department handbook, "consular officers are obligated to serve their clients with dedicated professional enthusiasm." That's what the textbook says. All too often, it isn't what the consular officers do.

Dear Amy: Every day, the White House is hit by a blizzard of mail. Most of the letters, of course, are addressed to President Carter. But his daughter Amy receives a large share.

Ten-year-old Amy, with her pigtails and glasses, looks like everyone's kid sister. She has received over 42,000 letters since she moved into the White House. And they keep pouring in at the rate of three or four hundred a week.

Amy's admirers often send her small presents. One fan sent her a French book from Paris.

Of course, Amy doesn't have time to answer all her mail. She's too busy with homework. But she usually picks out four or five letters to answer personally each month.

The rest are processed by secretaries. Most are answered on picture postcards, which cost the White House 48 cents apiece. The postcards come in two varieties – one of Amy with her dog, the other of Amy and her cat.

The cat, incidentally, is Amy's favorite.

Future Leaders: Both the United States and the Soviet Union are secretly grooming black leaders to take over the last of Africa's white minority governments. This is part of an intense backstage struggle to influence the black leaders who eventually will control Rhodesia and South Africa.

Already, the Soviets are secretly training radical leaders to fight in the jungle. Most are refugees who have fled from South Africa. The Americans are also working behind the scenes with potential future leaders.

Headlines and Footnotes: The names of thousands of Americans have been given to junk mailers by none other than Uncle Sam. Applications for CB licenses, for example, are considered public documents, so the junk mailers simply copy them...There's a move afoot in Congress to make cigarette smuggling a federal offense. If the proposal passes, cigarettes would be taxed by the federal government instead of the states...Congress is quietly considering a proposal to discipline errant federal judges. If it passes, a jury of federal judges would hear complaints against their peers...A special "bird squad" has been created to deal with some raucous starlings and blackbirds roosting in trees around the White House. Agents from the Department of the Interior are using a phonograph and a record of bird squawks in an effort to convince the birds to find another home.

Warriors Vs. Central In Finale

Season records are generally forgotten on Thanksgiving morning when two teams like Andover High and Lawrence Central Catholic meet on the gridiron.

Head Coach Dick Collins of Andover's Golden Warriors will attest to that as he prepares to meet the Red Raiders at Lawrence Memorial Stadium for a 10 a.m. kickoff on Thursday.

"They always have been tough," Collins said of the traditional turkey day opponent." "Their record is not good, but they are a strong team and have only been really out of one game all season," Collins pointed out.

Central, which competes in the Merrimack Valley Conference with Andover, has played close with all its opponent this season and was ahead of Dracut 3-0 at the half in their contest a few weeks ago, before the latter broke the game open in the third period.

Also, Central almost beat Tewksbury, another common MV conference foe.

"Central has always played exceptionally well against us," Collins pointed out thinking back to some Thanksgiving day scares his Warriors received in their undefeated seasons aimed at post-season Super Bowl play.

As for his own team, Collins said the club is health with the exception of a couple of defensive men, Brian Coleman and Dan Porcaro, who were injured in auto accidents prior to the last game.

As for his six wins, three losses season going into the finale, Collins described the overall season as being very good, "If at the beginning of the season they said we would be 6-3 at this point, I would have said that's good. We were an inexperienced team and I think the team has played very well."

The losses to Chelmsford and Dracut were disappointing, particularly after the team had built such an impressive record and saw the possibility for some post season play down the road.

"But all in all, it's been a good season,

Bantams To Play In Canada

For the 12th consecutive year the Andover Bantam "A" hockey team has been invited to play a series of five games in Canada on the week-long trip north of the border during February school vacation week.

The team, which is comprised of Andover boys ages 13 and 14 years, will play two games in Toronto and three in the city of Oshawa, Ontario during the excursion.

Also included in the trip will be educational sightseeing tours, recreational activities, and the team's annual good-will visit with crippled children at the Bloorview Hospital in Toronto.

Raising the necessary funds for the trip is a major task confronting the 17 team members. As one of the projects, the team has received permission from the selectmen and the police department to conduct a door-to-door canvass of the town.

The solicitation will take place this coming weekend, Nov. 26 and 27, and the following weekend, Dec. 3 and 4.

At this time townspeople will be asked to become "Andover Bantam Hockey Boosters" for which annual dues are $1.00. All donations are tax deductible. Team members conducting the canvass will be dressed in their hockey uniforms for easy identification.

Team Roster

This year's squad has only three members returning from last year.

The veteran players are goalie Dave Leitch, defenseman Tom Hetley and center Ed Sullivan.

Added to the squad this season are goalie Kris Williams, elevated from the PeeWee "A" team, forwards John Fuchs, Dave Deloury and Scott Heseltine who are all up from the Bantam "B" club, and former Pee Wee "A" standouts Peter Dunn, George Price, Ken Banfield, Tom Fabiani and Joe Pellegrino.

Rounding out the team are defenseman Craig Hyslip (Bantam "B", and former Pee Wee "A" blueliners Rick Apgar, Bob Leber, Jon Pelletier and Tim Derby.

This year's team has 10 boys who are 13 years old and seven who are 14.

Coaching the team are Richard E. Neal (19th season), Paul McNamara (13th season), and Chris Cullinan.

Presently the team is conducting twice-weekly practice sessions in preparation for the first game in late December. This season the team will compete in the newly-formed Merrimack Valley League, as well as playing several teams throughout New England.

The home schedule will be highlighted by three games next March against a Bantam team from Oshawa, Ontario.

Co-Captain At Bowdoin

Center Phil Pierce, 1 Royal Crest Drive, North Andover, has been elected a co-captain of the 1978 Polar Bear varsity football team at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me.

Pierce, a junior majoriing in history, is a former resident of East Falmouth, and a graduate of Melrose High school.

He shares the honor with Guard Dave Regan of Brockton.

Warriors

Collins said.

Expected to head the AHS attack is senior quarterback Dan Welsh, who boasts 54 points and 11 touchdown passes. He also rushed for 171 yeards in 17 carries against Dracut. Manny Silva may also see action in the signal-calling slot.

Paul Farnham, who has caught six TD aerials and has 42 points, and Joe Terrion are Welsh's favorite targets, while top running backs are Ray Lynch, Rick Collins, Greg Gardner and Eddie Collins.

Silva does the placekicking for the Warriors, and has enjoyed a very successful season to date with 21 conversion boots.

Central has rarely been an easy opponent for Andover, snapping the Warriors' lengthy win streak two years back with a rain-soaked 6-6 tie. The year before it was a tough 21-14 struggle, while last November the Golden Warriors had a fairly uncomplicated 27-6 romp.

It's been a tough year for Coach Gus Giardi's Raiders, who are 1-6-1 in the Conference and 2-6-1 overall after a fast start.

Central opened with a 13-6 non-league win over Lawrence Voke, and kicked off the MVC campaign by battling Methuen to a 0-0 tie.

Billerica toppled Central 22-7, but a 23-12 conquest of Lawrence followed to give the Hampshire Street Raiders a 2-1-1 mark.

Since that time it's been five straight losses to Chelmsford, 15-0, Dracut, 34-3 after a 3-0 halftime lead, Austin Prep, 8-7, Tewksbury, 16-9 after a quick 9-0 lead, and Wilmington, 12-0.

Citrus fruits proved to be lifesavers for early sailors. Before 1795, hundreds died from scurvy during long sea voyages. The British Navy solved the problem by adding limes and lemons to sailors' diets. That's how English sailors got the nickname "Limeys."

Andover High Notebook

By Renee Pruneau

The sales for this year's Andover high yearbook have been fairly successful with a total of 795 books bought already. The staff is shooting for 850.

The initial sale was accompanied by posters P.A. announcements and other advertising techniques.

A meter was put in the main foyer of A.H.S. and each day as more books were sold more of the meter was colored in. At different points prizes were given to the person who bought that number book.

The prizes were free Jim Dandies. The lucky winners were Sue Casanave, Miss O'Brian, Bill Eaton, Mary Taylor, Rick Collins, Sherry Braoner and Mr. Brennan. The yearbook will be on sale through the end of May. Students are now collecting names for patrons and doners. For $2 anyone who wishes may become a patron and their name will appear on the patron page. For $5 or more you can get special recognition as a doner to the Andover High yearbook. If anyone is interested in either of these, any tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade student can assist.

The ads campaign proved to be very successful. It was a month long affair of hard selling. If there is anyone who was not visited by one of the hard working staff members and they wish to place an ad in the yearbook contact Lili Aram, advertising editor, at the high school.

In order to raise that ever-needed money, the yearbook staff is planning a Flea Market which will be held at the high school. Tables will be rented to local people for a nominal fee. The details and dates will be released within the next few weeks.

Andover High Drama Club is starting their winter production. This will be a Minstral Show which will contain a collection of skits, musicians and comedians. Students will be trying out for this next Monday, Nov. 28, at 7:30 in the high school. As soon as this production is over the club will begin work on their annual spring play to be performed in early April.

The Drama Club officers are president, Dennis O'Mears; vice president, David Sealy; treasurer, Patty Barney; secretary, Steffani Yuska.

The Language of Flowers

by Gerry Trull

Episcias by any other name would be just as spectacular in your hanging baskets. Peacock plant, chameleon plant, carpet plant — they spread by runners or stolons like strawberries and plantlets root well to provide lots of new plants. The leaves are vivid and the flowers brilliantly colored in trumpet shapes of orange, lavender, white, yellow, and pink. The foliage is exceptional and varied with surface textures that range from shiny or velvety to quilted or embossed. Some leaves are patterned with contrasting colors in reds, silvers, browns and greens. See your plant dealer and choose of the many species of episcias or hybrids that are easy to grow. It's the striking beauty of the plant family.

You'll find striking plants in many varieties at TRULL'S MILL HILL FLOWER CENTER, 411 River Rd., 851-6161. You'll also find a full selection of fresh, dried and silk flowers for enhancing your Thanksgiving table or remembering your loved ones across the miles. W.J.H. Activities

By Lauren Whitley

November has been a very busy month for West Junior High and included many School and Student Government sponsored activities.

The Open House for the eighth and ninth graders parents was held earlier this month and began with a slide presentation by Mr. Hart and Mr. Covino, explaining recent rtest grade results. The presentation also acquainted parents with the policies and curriculum for the year. The Open House offered an opportunity for parents to meet with the teachers and discuss their programs. The Student Gov ernment members were the hosts on this occasion.

W.J.H.'s Student Government has started many new projects this term. This year West is planning to have a float in the Santa Claus Parade. The chairman of the committee is Laurel Swan & her cochairman is Craig Lebowitz. So far the committee members have met regularly to formulate the plans for the float.

West Jr. High's first dance was held last Friday evening in the cafeteria. The ninth graders, generally, started it off and finally got the seventh graders to dance, who seemed a little shy at first. The disc jockeys were Joyce Normandin and Meredith Maren, later Lisa Fortune and Mike Chiklis took over.

The eighth graders just returned from a successful and enjoyable trip to Washington, D. C. and Williamsburg, Va. The trip was sponsored by the Spcial Studies Dept. and the faculty chaperone was Mr. Dewire.

The first issue of the school newspaper, "The West Side Story" will be distributed this week. The new advisor is Mrs. Kanner. The 1977-78 editorial staff is Janine Sternlieb and Lauren Whitley, coeditors in chief; Jane Dietzel, feature editor; Cathy Downing, photo editor; Marsha Cummings and Karen Beaulieu, sports editors; Kim Byrne, Geoffry Stafford, Kris Penkus, Gossip Editors, and Larry Freedman, Clubs Editor.

Withdrawal From MVPC Threatened

Andover will threatent to withdraw support from the Merrimack Valley Regional Planning Commission study of the Merrimack River under a $34,000 planning grant.

Selectmen, in conference session, Monday night discussed further the scope of the planning project which is to examine the effects of pollutants on the water basin, to include such things as surface water drainage and harmful effects of all types.

The MVRPC has accepted a $34,000 grant to undertake the planning, which local officials feel will cost in the vicinity of $800,000 to plan properly.

Andover hosted a meeting of chief elected and appointed officials a few weeks ago to discuss possible appeal to federal and state authorities for proper funding of the project.

Only, North Andover and Haverhill were represented at the session. The communities involved include those from Lawrence to Newburyport.

Acting Manager Sheldon S. Cohen commented that possibly elections in some communities may have had an effect on the attendance, as well as it being the start of a holiday weekend, but said the turnout was "disappointing considering the magnitude of the matter."

What is to happen is planning for removal of all pollutants in the Merrimack According to a plan which, following adoption by the federal government must be 30 per cent implemented within three years.

Selectmen underscored their previous stand on the MVRPC taking on the task with the $34,000 funds allotted, emphasizing that the money is grossly insufficient to do the task.

Selectman Richard J. Bowen said that Andover should emphasize the magnitude of the project and the consequences on the Merrimack Valley communities at the next MVRPC meeting. "If the other towns and cities are not supportive then we should wash our hands of the town's participation in the MVRPC," Bowen said.

Department of Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade told the board that the town should withdraw its support of the 208 planning by the MVRPC now, in order to be in a proper position to oppose the plan when it eventually is placed before the Governor for approval.

As to the suggestion by Selectman Philip Salamone that the town should remain within the 208 planning with the regional commission, Bowen noted that staff time will be required of local officials., "You would have the manager and DPW director wasting their time on a project like this with its insufficient fundings," Bowen said.

Bowen went on to reiterate a comment made at the initial discussion of the project a few weeks ago saying that the MVRPC is not properly funded by participating communities, thus they grab off any funding projects they can. "Every chance they have to pick up a buck, they do it to survive," he said.

Selectman Edward M. Harris suggested that a letter be sent to all chief municipal officials appraising them of Andover's feelings and detailing the importance of seeking adequate funding for the project.

It was noted that there were three new mayors taking office in the valley area, with some other possible changes and that these people should be aware of what is happening.

The letter will be drafted for presentation to selectmen next Monday night with further action also possible with regard to participation in MVRPC planning.

Early Childhood Series Begins Next Wednesday

A three-part series of discussions for parents on early childhood development will begin next Wednesday with a session on "Books and Toys for Holiday Giving: Filling the Children's Needs."

It will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall Library, and advance reservations are requested.

The series is being sponsored by the new early childhood specialisst for Andover Schools, Linnea Gershenberg, and Children's Librarian Ruth Hooten.

Next week's discussion will include selecting books and toys that foster creativity, develop language skills, develop social skills, get a child ready to read and write, and those that help in problem-solving.

Other considerations are the child's interests, what is the child ready for, durability, and safety.

On Jan. 1, a panel of experts will give their views on the topic, "Is Your Child Ready to Read," followed on Feb. 16 by a panel on "What Is Crucial To Language Development."

Reservations may be made with Ms. Gershenberg at the Jackson School, 36 Bartlet St.

'Messiah' Dec. 4, 11

The Andover Choral Society under the direction of J. Everett Collins will present Handel's "Messiah" for the 49th Season on Dec. 4 and 11, at St. Robert Bellarmine Church, and Free Christian Church, respectively, at 7:30 p.m.

Fishing Industry Exhibit

"When man lived in Paradise and did not know it." That is what J.O.J. Frost wrote on one of his Marblehead paintings. It may not have been quite paradise but the romance of the sea is in the air at the Peabody Museum of Salem's new exhibit The New England Fishing Industry.

The cod was indeed a sacred fish and produced the codfish economy where a good haul meant riches and a poor one left the entire town in want. On display at the Peabody Museum of Salem are numerous artifacts and paintings from the time when every able bodied man and boy in New England's coastal villages had some stake in the local fishing fleets. The Grand Banks dory in the center of the gallery is loaded with nets, coiled and ready to spread. In wall cases are some of the implements which went to sea with the fishermen, including a curious metal funnel for pouring oil on stormy seas. There is a barrow emptied now of its salt load but still sturdy enough for any use. A detailed model of a Grand Banks schooner shows the last dory being lowered into the water.

Excise Tax Crackdown Underway

Governor Michael Dukakis and Registrar of Motor Vehicles Alan Mackey recently announced a new phase of the crackdown on Massachusetts motorists who illegally avoid paying excise taxes on their cars.

The Governor sent letters to the chief executives of every city and town outlining procedures to identify legal residents of the state who register their cars elsewhere to avoid excise taxes and Massachusetts insurance requirements.

Last Wednesday, the Governor signed a related bill, requiring motorists to sign a sworn statement that all excise taxes on the vehicle have been paid before the Registry will issue license plates for it.

"These two measures will bring some long-overdue relief to the majority of Massachusetts motorists and homeowners, who have registered their cars and paid their excise taxes on time, and then had to pay higher property taxes because of scofflaws," the Governor said.

In the letter, the Governor pointed out that the excise tax is not a state tax, but goes directly to the community in which the vehicle is principally garaged, and thus is a major source of local revenue. In 1976 the Registry sent out excise bills totalling $206,275,498.

The Governor and Mackey urged the local officials to relay the information to their police chiefs, and pledged the Registry's full support for local compliance programs.

Local registry officials will help interpret the law, and at the request of local police the Selective Enforcement Team, already active in Lawrence and other border communities where the problem is particularly acute, may be called in to assist.

While there is no universally acceptable definition of legal residence, in general courts usually consider factors such as length of employment

Reduced Power Rates For Elderly Asked

Massachusetts Electric Company has announced it has asked the Department of Public Utilities (DPU) for approval to implement a new rate which will reduce the electric bills of the elderly poor by approximately 30 percent.

If the Mass. Electric request is granted, the company will be the first utility in New England to offer a special electric rate to a particular socio-economic group of customers.

According to Mass. Electric President William J. Cadigan, the new rate for the elderly poor is being filed with the DPU as part of a request for a $15.4 million rate increase. The request amounts to less than a 3 percent overall increase.

Cadigan pointed out that the new rate for the elderly poor will cut a normal residential electric bill by nearly one third. "An elderly customer using 500 kilowatthours of electricity per month will pay $21.88 under the new rate as opposed to $31.07 under the regular residential rate we have requested," he said.

According to Cadigan, several things caused the company to take steps to lower the cost of electricity for the elderly poor. "While everyone is being affected by the continually rising cost of electricity," he said, "it has become apparent to us that the most serious impact is being felt by those elderly who are living at a bare subsistence level. For them it is a survival issue.

"Furthermore," Cadigan stressed, "in two separate surveys our residential customers indicated by a 3 to 1 margin that they favor this type of special rate.

"The new rate we are filing today, if approved," he continued, "will be available to customers 65 years of age or older who are heads of households and who are receiving supplemental security income."

Cadigan said that approximately 15,000 Mass. Electric customers will be eligible for the new rate. "We intend to make a strong effort" he said, "to identify these customers and make certain that all who are eligible have an opportunity to take advantage of the savings."

According to Cadigan, the cost of offering the reduced rate will be spread out among other residential customers. "The typical residential customer using 500 kilowatthours of electricity per month," Cadigan pointed out, "will pay approximately 15 cents more per month for electricity as a means of covering the cost of the new rate."

Cadigan concluded his remarks by saying that Mass. Electric is asking the DPU to allow the general rate increase and the new rate for the elderly poor to go into effect on December 1, 1977.

Santa To Dash Across Dome At Planetarium

The lights that brighten the coming holidays put us in touch with distant ancestors, holding candles at other festivals in Mediterranean countries. The pine branches that decorate our homes are redolent of Northern European forests where pagan forebears in dead of winter saw evergreens as a promise of renewed life.

These are among the holiday customs traced in the Christmas Planetarium program at Boston's Museum of Science. The program runs from Nov. 29 through Jan. 2.

Many traditions are related to astronomical events of the winter season, the program explains. Even the legendary Star of Bethlehem might have been a triple conjunction of planets. Most important of all is the winter solstice, when the sun's position is the lowest of the year for observers in the northern hemisphere.

Occurring this year December 21 at 6:24 p.m. (EST), the first day of winter was part of the Roman Saturnalia. Its celebration probably arose much further back in pre-history as an effort to keep the sun from disappearing. A lavish use of candles to remind the sun to keep shining on the earth is a heritage from those earlier practices.

In addition to simulating stars, planets, and comets on the huge Planetarium dome, the program arranges to have St. Nicholas dash across the sky in his sleigh, pulled by the eight tiny reindeer.

This view is also part of the special children's program, "The Winter Wishing Star," to which youngsters under five are invited. The program describes adventures among the stars experienced by Blue Bluster, the North Star Fairy, Old Man Moon, and other fanciful characters.

"The Winter Wishing Star" will be presented at 4 p.m. Dec. 9, 10, 16, 17, and 23 and also Dec. 26.

Times for the other Christmas program are: Mon. 11 a.m.; Tues.-Fri. 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.; Sat. 11 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m.; Sun. 12 noon, 2 and 3 p.m.; Fri. night at 8.

Admission to the Planetarium for either program is 50¢ above Museum admission. Children under five are admitted free to their special program.

Jumpers Can Be Dangerous

Improper use of jumper cables to revive a stalled car's battery may cause a dangerous explosion, warns the Masssachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Though such explosions occur very rarely with today's standardized batteries, cases of loss of sight, facial disfigurement and even death have been recorded from the improper connection of the cables to the batteries.

Explaining how such explosions occur, Dr. James George, a vice president of Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge said, "The problem is that batteries can produce hydrogen gas which, when concentrated about 4 percent in air, can explode. If a spark occurs when you apply the jumper cables, it can cause an explosion. If the gas has collected inside the battery during charging, or through over-discharging, the explosion can blow the battery apart, scattering acid in all directions."

To avoid sparks which trigger explosions, MSPB recommends the following step-by-step procedures: First, attach the red battery cable from the positive (+) pole on the dead battery to the positive (+) pole on the good booster battery.. Then, attach the black cable from the negative (-) pole of the good battery to the bumper of the stalled car (or any metal connected directly to its chassis, but located remotely from the dead batters.) To remove the cables these steps should be followed in reverse order.

The Society also cautions that the stalled car and the car containing the live booster battery should not touch in any way, the clips on the red cable should not make accidental contact with any part of either car and smoking should be prohibited when working with the cables.

These procedures can be used on most vehicles but may not always apply to foreign cars or U.S. models built prior to 1953. In these cases, owner manuals should be conslulted.

In response to the potential danger, MSPB issues warning stickers that can be affixed to the side of the battery or somewhere nearby under the hood. The stickers include a a simple diagram and instructions on how to connect the cables to the battery.

Several local companies including divisions of New England Telephone and Boston Gas recommend that vehicles in their fleets wear the stickers under the hood. The stickers are available from the Society. To obtain one send a self-addressed, stampéd No. 10 envelope to Prevent Blindness, 375 Concord Ave., Belmont, Mass., 02178. A single sticker is free.

The Artemision at Ephesus is the fourth of the Seven Wonders. The great temple was built c.550 B.C for worship of the Greek nature-goddess Artemis.

Cabbages, one of the world's oldest known vegetables, have been cultivated for 4,000 years. They were sacred in Greece and Rome to the extent that oaths were sworn on them. Massachusetts Audubon notes.

Grenadier Guards In Boston

For more than 20 years, the massed bands, pipes, drums and dancers of Great Britain's distinguished regiments have been crossing the Atlantic to mesmerize American audiences with their spectacular brand of pomp and colorful pagentry. Once again, in honor of the Queen's Silver Jubilee, the British are coming with an exciting evening of family entertainment. Audiences can witness the extraordinary splendor of the rich ceremonial tradition when the band of the Grenadier Guards joins forces with the pipes, drums and dancers of the Scots Guards in this grand salute to the Queen on Saturday, Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 4 at 1:30 p.m. at the Boston Garden.

Americans have marveled at the precision marching as the Guards in their dazzling red uniforms with sparkling gold braid and those towering bearskin hats come thundering into the arena. This coupled with the inspiring sounds of the bagpipes and drums of Her Majesty's Scots Guards is guaranteed to bring any audience to its feet.

The men chosen for the honor of carrying their venerable music traditions across the seas are members of the Queen's own foot guards. Their pagentry, music and dancing reflect an honorable history in every skirl of the pipes and each swirl of the kilt

IF YOU'D GO TO GREAT LENGTHS TO BUY A FIAT, KEN SCHENA AUTO SALES, INC. JUST SHORTENED YOUR TRIP.

You now have a neighborhood Fiat dealer right in your neighborhood with the complete line of Fiats.

The Fiat 131 is the biggest, most luxurious Fiat ever brought to America.

The Fiat 128 was named Car of the Year in 6 European countries the year it was introduced. And in America it was named economy car of the year by Motor Trend magazine.

Of course, you might not be in the market for a family-size car. In that case we have two sports models to show you.

The Fiat X1/9 which was designed by the same people who designed the Ferrari. And the 124 Spider which, besides being a classic Pininfarina design, is one of the few convertibles still made today.

Every Fiat we've listed comes with some standard equipment that you can't get on most cars as options. And other standard features that a lot of manufacturers charge you extra for.

Now with Ken Schena Auto Sales, Inc. in your neighborhood, you can spend your time looking for a Fiat. Not a Fiat dealer.

INTER CITY RELOCATION SERVICE

"Serving the NORTH SHORE for over 45 years"

HUNNEMAN and Company, Inc. is one of the best known, most respected real estate firms in New England. Its reputation for responsibility and competence is its most carefully safeguarded asset.

HUNNEMAN AND COMPANY HAS SEVEN BRANCH OFFICES IN THE NORTH SHORE, THEREBY OFFERING MORE LISTINGS AND GREATER SERVICE THAN ANY OTHER REAL ESTATE FIRM IN THAT AREA. IF YOU WANT TO BUY A HOME ON THE NORTH SHORE, "GO TO HUNNEMAN"! MOST OF THE NORTH SHORE COMMUNITIES ARE SERVED BY HUNNEMAN'S CONVENIENT OFFICES IN: ANDOVER, TOPSFIELD, SO. HAMILTON, MARBLEHEAD, GLOUCESTER, NEWBURYPORT AND MANCHESTER.

Hunneman's residential offices maintain an inter-office referral system that permits home-buyers, who can't find what they want in one town, to be shown what's available in up to 50 other Boston-area communities. And, as a member of eight multiple listing services (MLS) as well as having close contacts with other leading REALTOR offices, Hunneman and Company can show you virtually any listed house in the Boston suburban area.
When out-of-state employees are transferred to the Boston area, Hunneman's Relocation Service provides "red carpet" treatment — makes reservations for them at hotels, meets their plane and arranges for a pre-planned, home-finding tour of desired communities. And, when they find the home they want, Hunneman brokers provide the essential services needed, including access to sources of financing and legal advice to insure a trouble-free transfer. Hunneman's Relocation Service is courteous and effective . . . and is available without cost or obligation.

TAX TIP IF YOU SELL FOR A PROFIT

Normally, taxpayers who sell their home for a substantial profit face a heavy tax load, but this burden can be avoided. If you buy another home that costs as much or more than the sales price of the old one, within a specified time, the profit from the sale is not included in your taxable income.

The second home must be bought and occupied within a period ending 18 months after the sale. (This is a new change, previous time period was one year). A 2-year period is permitted when building a new home. This tax deferment applies only to the sale of a home which is the family's main residence.

When figuring the amount of gain for which tax may be postponed you may deduct for "fix-up" expenses if they were accomplished within 90 days prior to the sale, and paid for no later than 30 days after the sale. Check with your accountant or the IRS on details if this matter affects you. It could be well worth your while.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Shawsheen

Residents of the Shawsheen area in and around the Shetland Properties industrial complex, have been faced with a baffling problem for the past several weeks.

On some days the water is fine, others dirty and rusty. Too, the condition is not universal, in that some residences do not have the problem while the next door neighbor is affected.

The DPW and McQuade have been working to find the source of the problem and visiting individual households during periods when the problem is rampant.

The department is continuing its watch on the situation and will have additional reports for the selectmen on Monday.

New Building

should look at the option thoroughly "before we look at the individual needs of various town buildings that add up to $10 million." He said the long-range capital shopping list includes junior high renovations, a high school auditorium, town hall improvements and others.

"When we're saying we'll spend $3 to $3.5 million on East Jr. High," he said, "we're saying it will be a junior high for the next 20 years."

Perhaps, he said, it could be more suitable for other town use.

Colleague Joseph Finn disagreed that the committee has taken a strict no-build stance. He said the Declining Enrollment Committee has been told not to come back with a recommendation for new buildings, because it was to study the declining population at the elementary level.

In the past couple of years, he said, the school committee has voted against building or making extensive renovations to house the buldge at the high school. The feeling was, he said, that by the time any building was completed the need would be gone.

"These were two separate decisions," he said.

Now, he said, with the reintroduction of new construction as a possible package, the committee is "opening a door and should keep it open" until an appropriate decision can be made.

He said he wanted Seifert to come back with specifics on the need and costs of making necessary renovations and of building a new school.

"If you can't justify to us the advantage of spending the additional money," he said to Seifert, "we'd certainly have a difficult time trying to convince Town Meeting."

Seifert said he and McGrail would begin work Tuesday in order to have some specific input for the next joint meeting with the selectmen on capital planning.

Chives were taken from the Mediterranean region to China 2,000 years ago where they were used as an antiseptic, to stop bleeding and to counteract pioson, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Town Topics

9200 Xerox Working Like A Charm

Business Manager Edward Maguire told the school committee Monday night that the new Xerox 9200 copier is not only saving the school system money, but it's even a week ahead of the paper blizzard.

He said the cost per copy is less than one cent with the 9200, whereas comparable figures for a variety of other machines formerly used throughout the system range from one and a half cents up to 18 and 20 cents a page.

He said they're also finding that legibility and readability are far better, and that the machine requires significantly less labor.

"I have yet," he said, "to hear an unfavorable comment on the quality."
